DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 17-40 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on February 3, 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 41 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Oxley, U. S. Patent 2,434,860.

4. Oxley teaches a frame/easel assembly for displaying a planar object P. The frame/easel including a retaining panel 10 and a rear panel 11b, wherein the retaining panel 10 is spaced from the rear panel 11b to define a space there-between for receiving the picture P to be displayed. Oxley also teaches that both the retaining panel 10 and the rear panel 11b are made of transparent material. The retaining panel 10 taught by Oxley has a substantially planar central portion and retaining members 10a formed along side edges and retaining member 10b formed along the upper edge of the central portion. Each of the retaining members including an extension portion extending rearward relative to the planar central portion and a projecting ridge formed on the extension portion and extending inwardly, part of the rear panel being arranged to fit between the ridges and a rear surface of the retaining panel.

6. Claim 44 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lawrence, U. S. Patent 4,296,561.

7. Lawrence teaches picture frame assembly for displaying a picture comprising a retaining panel 12 and a rear panel 11. The retaining panel 12 is spaced from part of the rear panel to define a space there between for receiving an object to be displayed, wherein the retaining panel 12 has a transparent area 40 for viewing the picture. In addition, the retaining panel 12 has a substantially planar central portion 40/21 and retaining members 13 extending along the entire length of the top and bottom edges thereof. Each of the retaining members includes an extension portion 50 extending rearward relative to the substantially planar portion 21/40 and a projecting ridge 51 formed on the extension portion and extending inwardly. See figures 2 and 4. The ridges 51 extend across the entire length of the first and second retaining members. The upper and lower edge of the rear panel is arranged to fit between the ridges and a rear surface of the retaining panel 12.

8. Claim 45, 3, 4, 6, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Reinhard, U. S. Patent 6,209,248.

9. Reinhard teaches picture frame assembly for a picture 40 to be displayed comprising a retaining panel 22 and a rear panel 24, wherein the retaining panel 22 is spaced from the central portion 36 of the rear panel to define a space 60 there between for receiving a picture 40 to be displayed. The retaining panel is made of transparent material or has a transparent central portion 26 for viewing the picture 40. In addition, the retaining panel has a substantially planar central portion 26 defining a plurality of edges and retaining members 28 arranged on all of the edges, with only one retaining members situated on each edge. The retaining members 28 each extending along the entire edge portion of each edge, wherein each retaining member includes an extension portion 44 extending rearward relative to the substantially planar portion and a projecting ridge 48 formed on the extension portion and extending inwardly. The boarder part 38 of the rear panel being arranged to fit between the ridges 48 and a rear surface of the retaining panel.

10. Claims 45, 3, 4, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Reim, U. S. Patent 4,212,122.

11. Reim teaches picture frame assembly for a picture 8 to be displayed comprising a retaining panel 11 and a rear panel 10, wherein the retaining panel 11 is spaced from a part of the rear panel 10 to define a space there between for receiving a picture 8, transparent panel 7, and compressible insert 9 to be displayed. The retaining panel has a transparent central portion/opening for viewing the picture 40. In addition, the retaining panel 11 has a substantially planar 13 defining a plurality of edges and retaining members 14 arranged on all of the edges, with only one retaining members situated on each edge. The retaining members 14 each extending along the entire edge portion of each edge, wherein each retaining member includes an extension portion 14 extending rearward relative to the substantially planar portion and a projecting ridge 16 formed on the extension portion and extending inwardly. The peripheral edges of the rear panel 10 being arranged to fit between the ridges 16 and a rear surface of the retaining panel.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

12. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

13. Claims 45, 3, 4, 6, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reim in view of Vogele, U. S. Patent 3,918,187. Reim teaches the claim invention except for the transparent area for viewing the picture. Vogele teaches a picture frame 10 comprising a frame 12 having a central opening with a transparent member 32 welded to the frame and a backing member 14. The frame 12 has retaining members 30a, 30b, and 28 extending from the frame member and adhesive pad 42 for mounting the frame upon a vertical surface. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time this invention was made to provide a means to view the picture mounted therein as well as protect the picture for damage.

Allowable Subject Matter

14. Claims 42 and 43 are allowed.

15. Claims 2, 5, 8-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

16. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 41, 44, and 45 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
